3 Counties Organize To Push District Sanatorium

EIGHT DEAD IN TENEMENT FIRE

Groups Meet In Mansfield To Back Plan

Spokesmen at Session Call for Larger Project Than Was Authorized In Bond Issue Last Year

An organized move was under way today to promote the construction of a three-county tuberculosis sanatorium in Richland county instead of the $400,000 county institution proposed by Richland county commissioners.

Committees to push the tri-county proposal were advocated last night at a meeting of approximately 50 representatives of Richland, Ashland and Crawford counties in the Mansfield municipal courtroom.

The meeting was called by Jacque R. Wilkinson, a former patient in the county sanatorium on Lexington avenue.

While a few persons at the meeting expressed their opposition to the plan, most of those stating their positions were in favor of a tri-county sanatorium.

Wilkinson asked that Dr. John S. Hattery, Mansfield physician and a member of the advisory board of the county TB sanatorium, Dr. C. E. Meuser of Ashland and Harold Sowers, a former TB patient of Crawford county, act as chairmen of three-member committees in their respective counties to sponsor and organize support for the district hospital proposal.

Pick Committees.

Each of the chairmen is to select two others in his county to serve on the committee. In addition, the entire group, still nameless, plans to organize formally for the project, Wilkinson said.

One of the strongest proponents for the tri-county sanatorium is Dr. Oren A. Beatty, medical director of the present Richland county hospital.

In addressing the group last night, Dr. Beatty said that the 49-bed sanatorium, expandable to 72 beds in emergencies, now planned for Richland county is "actually inadequate for the county."

"In one way of thinking, there should be three beds for every death caused by tuberculosis. In 1945 there were 31 deaths in the county, in 1944 there were 36. At that rate the sanatorium should provide more than 90 beds instead of the minimum of 49 or the maximum of 72," Dr. Beatty remarked.

Cites Delay.

Principal argument of opponents who included Oliver Hartman, a strong supporter of the county project when it was being organized prior to passage of the bond issue in the fall of 1945, was the further delays likely in switching plans to a three-county basis.

County Commissioners C. L. Shoup and Guy F. Stewart spoke of the delays, Shoup stating that he would like to know why the present planned sanatorium has not been approved by the Civilian Production administration.

Stewart said he was still opposed to the district idea, at least until many of the problems could be solved. He said such a project would mean further delays, would take the control out of the hands of elected offociais and might result in taxpayers' suits.

TIRE WORKERS GET $280,000

Amount Includes Yule Bonus of $78,000 For 2,800 Company Employes.

Old St. Nick will act as paymaster tomorrow at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company with a pack containing more than $280,000.

This record payroll will include the company's annual Christmas gift to its approximately 2,800 employes.

Company officials said that regular pay checks will be "padded" with this year's gift of more than $78,000.

The great majority of the employes will receive a sum of $30 in addition to their regular earnings as their "Christmas bonus." Employes who have worked at the plant for six months previous to Dec. 10, will receive the $30 gifts. Those employed for less than six months, but more than 60 days, will receive $20. And those employed less than 60 days as of Dec. 10 will be given $10.

The bonuses will be given out on the regular weekly payday for factory employes and the two-week pay period for office workers.

PREMIER POST GOES TO BLUM

BULLETIN

PARIS —(AP)— Sollalist Leon Blum, 74, was elected president-premier today of the interim French government which will serve until mid-January.

PARIS —(AP)— Socialist Leon Blum, 74, was virtually assured of election as president-premier of the interim French government today, when Georges Bidault's MRP (Popular Republican movement) party decided not to present an opposition candidate.

Agreement on the candidacy of Blum, premier of the 1936 "popular front" government, ended a two-weeks old cabinet crisis. He was due to be elected by a nearly unanimous vote later in the day by the national assembly, meeting for its third try at electing an interim president-premier.

Blum's most outstanding role since he was liberated from a German prison camp in May, 1945, was the negotiation of the United States loan to France last spring.

The new cabinet he would be called upon to form is scheduled to last until mid-January, when a permanent government is to be established.

The Socialist party had announced earlier in the day that Blum would take the job on condition that he be unopposed.

The gravity of the situation was emphasized by the fact that there are only 13 days left in which to solve a cabinet crisis and vote a budget for the first quarter of 1947.

Veteran political observers said France's plight would become "catastrophic" unless a new government was formed soon.

Pajama-Clad Barefoot Youth Hikes 14 Miles Along Railroad

Walking 14 miles barefoot and dressed only in pajamas may be a rough thing for most people to do in December weather.

But the 14-year-old boy who did it after breaking out of the county detention home yesterday was no worse for his experience today.

Shortly after 1 p. m. yesterday the sheriff's department received a call from a citizen who said he saw the lad, wearing only the pajamas, hiking southeast along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks.

Deputies immediately began a search but didn't locate the boy until late at night at the home of a friend who lives near the boy's residence near Newville.

Under questioning, the youngster, who was being held as an habitual truant from school, said he traveled the approximately 14 miles in about three and one-half hours. He didn't have any particular reason for leaving the detention home, except that he didn't like it there.

Asked if the cinders and crushed limestone of the railroad right of way didn't hurt his bare feet, he answered:

"Nope. It was just soft cinders all the way."

Juvenile authorities reported that the boy has been before juvenile court twice before on truancy charges. Last week his parents were given suspended 30-day jail sentences after conviction of contributing to the delinquency of the boy and his 16-year-old sister by not keeping them in school.

STRIKE WAVE THREAT SEEN IN CIO DRIVE

Industry Denies Wages Can Go Up Without Prices.

(By United Press)

The possibility of another strike wave arose today as industrialists expressed opposition to the CIO's "second round" drive for 25 per cent wage increases.

Many big corporations, however, withheld comment pending the actual wage demands by the various CIO unions. Other companies said any increases would have to come from the consumer's pocket in the form of higher prices.

Still other industrial spokesmen termed the CIO's new wage program "silly" and "unthinkable." Comments expressing opposition came from most of the basic industries.

The new wage drive was opened in Washington yesterday by CIO President Philip Murray at a luncheon attended by government, business and labor leaders. Murray said the increases should be paid out of increased profits, not by raising prices.

He cited a special report made by Economist Robert R. Nathan, which asserted that huge industrial profits this year justify an immediate 25 per cent raise for all workers.

Murray's statement was met by immediate opposition from the automobile industry, whose spokesmen claimed that the economic report was erroneous.

At Pittsburgh, spokesmen for the steel industry said they would have no comment until the CIO Steelworkers present their demands in formal negotiations. One independent steel firm said it would study the Nathan report and take it into consideration in negotiations with the union.

MEETING CALLED ON ROAD CHANGE

State, county and city officials were called to meet at 1:30 today to discuss the proposed relocation of State Route 13 around the Municipal airport.

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk, who arranged the meeting in the court of appeals court room on the third floor of the courthouse, prepared a map showing two proposed routes for a new highway.

State Highway Director Perry T. Ford requested the meeting and Rusk invited city officials and representatives of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce, the Richland County Auto club and others interested in the traffic problem presented by the county's substitute Route 13-A around the west side of the airport.

The state's Route 13 was vacated in 1944 when construction was begun on the airport.

GUNMEN ROB CASINO

RENO, Nev. — (INS) — Law enforcement agencies throughout sparsely-settled Nevada sought today two gunmen who held up the Normandy gambling casino, shot a night watchman in the arm and fled with $15,000.

30-Degree Drop Seen For Mansfield Tonight

Strong winds tonight will herald a 30-degree drop in temperature as the weatherman predicted an overdue cold wave accompanied by snow flurries tomorrow.

Rain, which fell intermittently in Mansfield this morning, was scheduled to turn to snow flurries tonight. The thermometer, which has ranged in the 40's and 50's for the last few days, would plunge to 15 or 20 degrees by tomorrow, the weather bureau said.

The latest winter storm was moving southward from Lake Michigan, and the weather bureau said winds on Lake Erie would reach velocities of between 35 and 40 miles an hour.

While temperatures here will climb into the 50's this afternoon, the mercury was down to four degrees above zero at Duluth, Minn., and the cold wave was moving rapidly eastward.

Early risers this morning were greeted by a heavy downpour which flooded storm sewers and at times made driving difficult for motorists. At Hayesville, however, only .04 inches of rain was reported up to 8 a. m.

SEARCHERS FAIL TO FIND PLANE

SEATTLE — (AP) — The rapidly shifting search for a marine corps transport plane, missing with 32 men since Tuesday afternoon, swung back to the south slope of towering Mt. Rainier early today after authorities declared "green flare" reports from the Toledo, southeast Washington area to be "rumor."

The new location, which itself had once been abandoned in favor of the flare report, is within 14 miles of where 10 men plummeted to their death when a Boeing Stratoliner broke apart and crashed during a test flight power dive in March of 1939.

Coast guard parties moved into the Longmire area of the 14,480-foot Mt. Rainier several hours after midnight.

The army air forces returned to McChord field near Tacoma for the night planning to renew activities at Longmire at dawn with winter equipment.

Flooding streams and heavy rains hampered the hunt and brought spoken fears from authorities that possible survivors of a crash would suffer greatly from exposure.

DRIVERS WIN RAISE

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Employes of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company, who tied up this city's public transportation for 25 days last October, today had won a 15-cent per hour wage increase and free rides on company vehicles.

IRAN QUIET AS FIGHTING ENDS

TEHRAN — (INS) — Government troops who broke Azerbaijan rebel resistance in 41 hours of light fighting rolled on towards the provincial capital of Tabriz today to begin a peaceful occupation.

Jafar Pishevari, Azerbaijan premier who had defied the efforts of the Central government to send troops to the province, was reported to have fled across the border to Russia.

(A Tehran dispatch received by the London Daily Telegraph said the Soviet ambassador to Iran had asked the Shah to arrange a "pardon" for the escaped Azerbaijan leaders.)

The Tabriz radio quoted the Left Tudeh party as stating that "traitors" were responsible for the original rebellion against the Central government.

YULE MAILING'S LATE, FORECASTING BIG RUSH

Mansfield's Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford is puzzled. He's wondering what has happened to the Christmas rush, usually in full swing before this time.

"There are circumstances that could account for the delay in parcel post mailing, such as people waiting until the last minute to obtain scarce items," Ford said. "But that doesn't explain the slowness in letter and Christmas card mailing.

"Sale of 50,000 one-and-a-half-cent and 20,000 three-cent stamps yesterday was the first indication of activity in letter mailing as far as local mail is concerned," Ford said. "Usually by this time we have moved parcel post into the armory, but we haven't been that cramped so far."

In any event, the absence of a rush this week probably means a bigger one than ever next week, postal workers figure.

Post office officials suggested that Christmas greeting cards be sent by first class mail. Cards sent first class may be sealed and may contain personal messages not permitted at the third class (one-and-a-half-cent) rate. First-class cards are entitled to directory service and will be forwarded, or returned to the addressee if undelivered.

TRUMAN ORDER REVAMPS TOP WAR AGENCIES

President Names Fleming to Head New Control Office.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman today revamped the entire war emergency set-up. He abolished the War Mobilization and Reconversion office and named John R. Steelman as assistant to the president.

The president made public at his news conference an executive order under which he named Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming as head of a new office of temporary controls, which will carry on remaining functions of OPA, OWMR, the Civilian Production Administration, and the Office of Economic Stabilization.

Steelman, the new assistant to the president, has been reconversion director and economic stabilizer.

Fills Housing Posts.

Mr. Truman at the same time named Raymond M. Foley as housing administrator and Frank R. Creedon as housing expediter, the two posts recently relinquished by Wilson W. Wyatt after a controversy with the RFC over loans for prefabricated housing.

In an executive order the president abolished the Wage Stabilization Board as of Feb. 24, and the Economic Stabilization Board immediately.

The chief executive made it clear he had no intention of abandoning rent controls.

In response to reporters' questions as to whether an immediate increase in rent ceilings was in prospect, Mr. Truman said that he had no plans to order such an increase.

He added, however, that there was a possibility that some increases might be under consideration by OPA.

County Sales Taxes Near Million-Mark

Richland county's sales tax collections will go well over the $1,000,000 mark this year, a report from the state treasurer's office indicated today.

It reported collections for the week preceding Nov. 30 amounting to $22,620, compared with only $19,896 in the corresponding period of 1945.

The end-of-November collections brought the year's cumulative total to $997,547, nearly 50 per cent greater than the year-to-date total of $670,213 in 1945.

Receipts as the result of the unprecedented Christmas shopping still are to be counted.

FIVE DIE IN WRECK

DOWNINGTOWN, Pa. — (INS) — Five persons were dead today and four others, including an expectant mother, were injured following a head-on collision between an automobile and a truck-trailer loaded with 4,300 gallons of Diesel oil.

25 Injured, 30 Still Missing After Disaster

BULLETIN

NEW YORK—(INS)—Police Captain Thomas V. Hannigan announced today that four boys, all 10 or 11 years old, had admitted starting the tragic tenement fire by playing with candles in the adjoining ice plant.

NEW YORK—(UP)—An explosion threw the brick wall of a flaming ice house upon an adjoining tenement house here early today killing or injuring a majority of the 92 persons who lived in the six-story building which residents said had been condemned "years ago."

While firemen and police emergency squads searched through debris in an effort to reach at least 30 persons still missing, a preliminary check showed eight known dead, and at least 25 injured. It appeared that almost all those still in the ruined brick building were injured or dead.

The cries of some of those trapped could be heard at intervals. One man who had screamed almost constantly for many hours, "Get me out of here," was removed alive. A priest crawled through a hole in one of the shattered brick walls and administered last rites of three persons whom he believed were beyond hope.

A detective who also entered the wreckage told of finding four bodies.

4 Die In Hospital.

Four persons died in hospital to which they were sent after five alarms sent fire and rescue equipment to the scene at Amsterdam avenue and 184th street on New York's upper west side. The big ice plant of the Knickerbocker Ice Co., abandoned some 15 years ago, was wrecked by fire and explosion, and it was the rear wall of the big building which crashed upon the tenement.

All available emergency equipment was called out to fight the fire and to aid rescuers digging frantically in the ruins for victims, many of them women and children screaming for aid.

Many of the victims were trapped in their beds as the blast sheared off the entire rear wall of the tenement and sent tons of brick, mortar and plaster into a massive pile of debris two stories deep. One of the walls of the tenement and one of the ice house were standing at perilous angles and firemen feared that if they fell many of those still alive in the rubble might be killed.

Cause Not Known.

The cause of the explosion could not be determined immediately, but it was believed escaping ammonia fumes from several tanks in the building had been ignited.

Chief Fire Marshal Thomas Brophy said, "we don't know what happened." The building, an all brick structure, was said to have been fireproof.

Firemen employed cranes, bulldozers and other equipment in the fight to rescue the victims. But the work went slowly because of the packed condition of the debris and because they feared others might die in sudden cave-ins.

REVOLT FAILS IN VENEZUELA

Capital Uneasy as Reports Reveal Reorganization Move By Rebels.

CARACAS, Venezuela —(INS)— Caracas reached uneasily today to reports from the interior that the rebels were reorganizing as the government stood pat on its announcement that a revolt against the regime of President Romula Betancourt had been smashed.

Betancourt, who himself came to power as the head of revolutionary Junta in Oct., 1945, said the insurgent leaders were fleeing the country.

Other government officials said the leaders were escaping to Colombia. One report said a group had surrendered in the latter country.

Army leaders announced that Maracay airport and troop barracks, from which the attack had been launched, again were in control of loyal forces.

Insurgents Grab Planes.

They added that some of the planes were missing and were presumed to have been seized by the fleeing insurgents.

Despite government assurances reports reaching the capital said some rebels still were holding out in other cities and planned to renew their frustrated march on the capital.

The insurgents, after capturing the airport dispatched two planes to bomb the capital, 50 miles away.

Only one bomb was dropped on the capital city missing the presidential palace.

Another plane dropped a bomb near the Jardin hotel in Maracay, where members of an American military mission and their wives and children were staying. A group of American newspaper men also were in the hotel when the bomb fell without causing casualties.

Short Circuit Does Better Than John L.

A short circuit early today almost did what the coal strike couldn't—black out, permanently, Central park's Christmas lights.

The short circuit was in lights strung around the fountain.

The minor blaze "toasted" a few tree leaves but firemen quickly extinguished it and repairmen went to work to assure that the lights will shine tonight.

Cause for the short is unknown, firemen said, but added it may have been the result of the night's heavy rain. The blaze occurred around 1 a. m.

BIG 4 NEARING SESSION'S END

NEW YORK—(AP)—Paced by a new round of concessions from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, the Big Four foreign ministers council arranged to finish its historic peacemaking sessions in New York today after having completed plans for drafting German and Austrian peace settlements.

A final meeting was scheduled for 4 p. m. to clean up minor details of the five European satellite peace treaties and approve the draft of a six-point agenda for the Big Four conference in Moscow March 10 to begin work on treaties with Germany and Austria.

In a busy, swift-moving session last night the Big Four agreed that prior to the Moscow sessions small nations would be given full opportunity to present proposals for German and Austrian settlements to boards of great power deputy foreign ministers in London beginning January 14.

Due mainly to last minute agreement by Molotov it was also decided that Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' proposals for sharply limiting occupation armies in Europe and for a 40-year German disarmament pact would be fully considered at the Moscow meeting.

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

MANSFIELD PLAYS COLLINWOOD TOMORROW

FAIR OR FOUL

by LAWTON CARVER

International News Service

NEW YORK — (INS) — If you were asked quickly to name the three greatest pitchers in baseball history the first to pop into your mind probably would be Walter Johnson, Grover Cleveland Alexander and Christy Mathewson.

You might rearrange the order, but among them must be the big former Washington hurler, who died Tuesday. You might even disagree on whether the foregoing covered the greatest trio of all times, but there, too, you couldn't leave out the name of Johnson.

It was his misfortune to spend his days with a ball club which generally was among the weakest in the league until he approached the finish of his career. With strong contenders his accomplishments would have been unbelievably great.

He could have increased his effectiveness also if he had hurled in a few dusters to keep the hitters foot loose, but they knew he would not intentionally throw at them and that his control was superb.

The simply dug in and swung, knowing also that it would be a fast ball. He had so much speed that he became a standout simply through overpowering batters.

He was one of baseball's most beloved figures—an accolade handed to many in post-mortems and deserved by few. He was a strangely quiet man, with tremendous shoulders and a pitching motion that was pure rhythm.

It wasn't my privilege ever to see him in big league competition and when I watched him on a few occasions he already was near his finish, and merely coasting along in exhibitions. But even under those circumstances he was something to watch.

By then he was through setting up records, except those based on repetition through longevity, yet there was class and grace and wonderful skill in everything he did.

He in his league and Mathewson in the National must have been just about the best, day in and day out, in their time. Mathewson had the advantage of playing for some of John McGraw's great Giant clubs. Johnson uncomplainingly carried almost the whole load for his Washington club.

The best example of his greatness can be found on the sports pages even today, when invariably some strong-armed youngster is compared to the old master in speed. All comparisons in that respect begin and end with Johnson.

Some still argue whether he was faster than Lefty Mose Grove, or Smoky Joe Wood. A few will tell you that Bob Feller has as good a fast ball as the one Johnson used to throw. But invariably the comparisons on pitching speed find Johnson used as the standard.

A less glamorous but even more important comparison might be made between his deportment and that of other heroes—he was a gentleman too.

CLEVELANDERS LOOK FOR BIT OF REVENGE

Four Visitors Played Against Tygers in '45.

Cleveland Collinwood basketeers invade the Tyger lair tomorrow night looking for a bit of revenge.

Coach Vern Hoffman's Mansfield aggregation slipped by Collinwood 27 to 25 last year and four members of the 1945-46 club will be in the starting lineup tomorrow. The vets are Ferato, Silla, Sedlock and DeMario and the top three were starters.

Silla and Sedlock collected 14 of Collinwood's point last year. Coach Harry Newman's quintet has won one and dropped one this season and is touted as one of Cleveland's better outfits. Collinwood lost to Cleveland Shaw last week, 31-22.

The visitors will have a height advantage but if the Bengals can continue the fight they displayed in the last half against Bellevue Tuesday they should do all right. Mansfield lost to the Redmen 53 to 47.

Ralph Majors, Ollie Cline and Chuck Sisco saw action against Collinwood last year but only Cline dented the scoring column. He picked up two points.

The Mansfield sophomores will be after their second victory when they meet the Collinwood reserves in the prelim at 7 p. m.

Mansfield travels to Lima South Saturday night and will go into the contest favored to win. South lost its only start to Bluffton, 66-46, but the Lima team is made up of burly footballers who are tough around the bucket.

Lima has two lettermen returning off the club that lost to Mansfield, 46-29, last year. The vets are Dick Thomas and George Schiffer. Thomas splashed in 28 points in the Bluffton tilt.

Browns Feted By Sport Fans

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The Cleveland Browns returned to the training grind today with the plaudits of Cleveland's top sports fans still ringing in their ears.

The Browns were feted last night as the champions of the west in the All-America conference at a victory banquet staged by the Cleveland Touchdown club. The "victory" is slated to be that over the New York Yankees a week from Sunday for the conference title.

The Touchdown club praised the Cleveland heads, Owner Arthur B. McBride and Coach Paul Brown, and the two moguls in turn lauded the work of their fine team in winning the western crown.

Brown struck one unhappy note in the generally jovial atmosphere with the statement that Lou Groza will probably not be ready for the playoff contest.

The place-kicking expert and league-leading scorer will be out with an ankle injury suffered in the Browns' last regular game Sunday.

Wolf Sets New Bowling Mark

Skeets Wolf, Truck Tires, set a season individual game record in the Mansfield Tire bowling league at the Colony bowling alleys.

Wolf blasted 257 pins to break the mark of 248 held by Fred Willis, Department 30. Willis' 638 still tops the three games series. Charles Bauer, Curing Room, had a 223-202-175—600.

Truck Tires copped single game honors with 943 while Curing Room had the high series of 876-884-853—2613.

Dearman's took all laurels in the Transportation loop. E. Baehr hit a 221 while H. Freese blasted 186-215-172—573. Dearman's took three straight games from the R. O. Darling fivesome with 887-913-863—2653.

W. Mabee, Hoofs, paced the Elks league pinsters with 193-225-192—610. Ears took team honors with 858-857-850—2575.

BULLDOGS ROAR TO 47-11 WIN

John Simpson junior high school basketball team toyed with the Loudonville ninth graders to annex a 47 to 11 decision yesterday afternoon on the Bulldog court. It was Simpson's second straight win.

The Bulldogs vaulted into a 9-1 lead at the quarter and increased the margin to 23-6 at the half. Big Ed Demyon scored 21 points from his pivot position to top the point-makers.

Holding Loudonville scoreless in the first half, the Simpson eighth graders copped the prelim, 31-11. Score at the half was 14-0. Cliff Hammer, Ken McCally and Gene Fidler made all of the Simpson points.

Coach Bob Kennedy's team travels to Shelby next Monday.

Smokehouse Courtsters Tie For Top Position

Smokehouse cagers defeated the Mansfield Tire five, 30-28, in the City A league to go into a three-way tie for first place in the first division.

The Tiremen, which had an undisputed grip for the lead in the second division, dropped to a four-way tie for first place. Urschel Insurance, Yunckers and McCarrick's are tied with Mansfield Tire for the top spot.

Smokehouse trailed throughout the first half and touched off a scoring blast of 15 points in the third quarter to lead the Rubbermen, 29-20. Tire led at the third quarter 12-8 and at halftime 15-14.

The Tire quint's last period rally fell short as it outscored Smokehouse 8 to 1 in the final eight minutes.

Although Jack Hammett scored 17 points, Barnes dropped a 40-34 decision to Yunckers. Yunckers took an early lead but Barnes rallied to knot the score at the half, 17-17. The Sportsmen went ahead in the third period, 30-21.

Bill Herpich garnered 16 points for Yunckers.

AVC went down to its second defeat of the week, falling before McCarrick's Gulf station, 42-30. Bobby Glasscock, former Tyger cager, stood out for the winners on offense and defense. He notched 13 points.

Kenny Miller, pint-sized guard, sparkled for the Vets with his surprising rebound work. He also collected 10 points.

Stags Rip Rebels

CHICAGO —(INS)— The Chicago Stags maintained their jinx today over Cleveland's Rebels and firmly entrenched themselves in second place in the Basketball Association of America. The Stags handed Cleveland an 88 to 79 defeat last night.

Kenneth Funk, Ashland Back, On Honor 11

COLUMBUS — (AP) — A score of some 1,400 Buckeye collegiate gridiron performers were selected today for honorary positions on the Associated Press' 1946 All-Ohio college and All-Ohio conference football teams.

The All-Ohio squad was picked from the 37 Buckeye schools (excepting Ohio State) engaging in the gridiron sport and the All-Ohio conference eleven from that league's 21 member teams.

The 20 athletes, representing 13 different schools, were chosen for mythical stardom by a vote of coaches, officials and sports writers, tabulated by the Associated Press.

Kenny Funk, Ashland's great running back, was awarded a berth on the All-Ohio conference eleven.

Outstanding choices on the All-Ohio combine were Ohio university's high-scoring back, King Brady, whose coaches call him "the greatest back we ever had," and William Hoover, Miami's aggressive end.

Vince Marotta, leading scorer in Mt. Union's backfield, who runs the 100-yard dash in better than 10 seconds, was picked on both teams.

The selections follow: All-Ohio, ends, William Hoover, Miami and Ellie Nickel, Cincinnati; Bill Goss, Dayton and Bruce Heisler, Ohio Wesleyan; Tom Blake, Cincinnati and Art Burton, Findlay; center, Myron Carman, Toledo; backs, King Brady, Ohio U., Jack Castignola, Dayton, Art Parsghian, Miami and Vince Marotta, Mt. Crane Is Champ

PHILADELPHIA —(U.P.)—Irving Crane of Livonia, N. Y., became the new world pocket billiards champion by defeating Andrew Ponzi of Philadelphia, 125-97 in 10 innings last night.

Just Like Jordan, Louis Rolls On

MEXICO CITY — (U.P.) — Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis will not retire until somebody beats him, his business manager said today, adding that Louis expected to fight "until we have to haul him up to the ring in a wheel chair."

Gene Lucas, the business manager, cited the scarcity of first-rate heavyweights, and said the champion, although 33 years old, would stay active in the ring.

"He won't retire until somebody beats him—and you know how long that will be," Lucas said.

MADISON AFTER SECOND VICTORY

Mansfield Madison will be after its second straight cage victory tomorrow night when the Rams entertain Loudonville.

Coach Jeff DeHaven has been putting his charges through long workouts this week to acquaint the Rams with the Loudonville offensive methods.

Coach Jim Hunter's squad employs a fast break and his scoring punch rests in the hands of Forwards Hefflefinger and Wickham, two lettermen. Bill Porter has been playing an outstanding floor game for the Red Birds.

DeHaven said that he will start Eldon Pritchard and Herb Eldridge at forward; Bob Wilson, center; and Dick Ernsberger and Dick Poth at guards.

Pritchard is leading the Rams offensively. The Madison junior scored 10 points against Mt. Vernon, in the Rams only 1946-47 defeat, and split the nets for 16 points last Friday night against Shelby.

In the preliminary tussle, Coach Bill Kopcial's reserves will be seeking their second win of the year against the Loudonville reserves at 7:15.

Cleveland Barons Annex Eighth Straight Victory

Cleveland's red-hot Barons pulled within three games of the consecutive victories record of the American Hockey league.

The Barons won their eighth in a row as they downed the Hornets at Pittsburgh last night, 4 to 3, before a disappointing crowd of 4,200. The league mark stands at 11 in a row.

Kenny Berry to Headline Christmas Fight Show

Mansfield fight fans will get their first glimpse of the 1946-1947 season at Kenny Berry, clever lightweight, in the Friendly House-40 et 8 Christmas fisticuff festival next Thursday in the Senior high auditorium.

Berry had been scheduled to fight the main go of the first amateur bouts last week at Senior high but his performance was wiped off the books when the Fremont contingent of leather swingers failed to put in an appearance. The 18-year-old clouter is starting his second year of fighting. Last year he copped three of four starts.

Matchmaker Mike Wentz has signed Berry to meet Clay Miller, Akron 133-pounder, in the four-round main event of the second simon pure club-fest. Miller is the top lad in Johnny Cerrone's stable of amateur boxers.

Jack Brandt and Eddie Knapp, who won decisions on the first card, will return on next Thursday's program. Knapp moved to the main go when Berry's battle was cancelled and won an easy decision over Jack Seckinger, Mt. Vernon.

Brandt decisioned Bob Haycraft, Marion, in another four-rounder last week. The F-H scrapper played on the Mansfield high grid team at the start of the season.

Ten bouts, including 33 rounds of fighting, will make up the next F-H-40 et 8 card. Wentz is matching fighters from Mansfield, Massillon, Akron, Mt. Vernon, Marion and Canton on the show.

Madison Wins

Madison high school defeated Mansfield Senior high in a girls' volleyball match at the Tyger gymnasium, 27-19, 32-26. It was the first defeat for the Senior girls.

Carbetta-Graves Fight Postponed

The Paul Carbetta-Jackie Graves boxing show in Minneapolis was called off last night. The two feathers had been scheduled to go 10 rounds.

Graves, one of the country's ace battlers, picked up a cold while refereeing an amateur show last week and was unable to go on. Promoter Tony Stecher hopes to book the Carbetta-Graves fight for Dec. 27.

Paul's last start resulted in a knockout decision over Paul Chaney in the Mansfield ring.

THE DIFFERENCE A LITTLE FOOD MADE

Happy Jack Squirrel finished the small crust of bread Mother Brown had thrown out the window to him. Already he felt better. Of course there hadn't been time for the food to do him any real good, but just knowing that his stomach was no longer empty made him feel better. He was still cold and still hungry but he was no longer so forlorn. He held his big handsome tail up instead of dragging it.

From the barn came Farmer Brown's boy. He was whistling. A whistling boy is a cheerful boy, a boy with a good disposition, a kindly boy. Farmer Brown's boy was carrying something yellow. Even before he was near enough for Happy Jack to see what it was he knew what it was and that made him feel better still. It was corn, several ears of yellow corn. Happy Jack almost skipped as he moved off a little way. Anyway I am sure he felt like skipping. He knew that corn was for him.

Farmer Brown's boy broke a short piece from an ear and tossed it to Happy Jack, who seized it and ran for the nearest tree. Up this he climbed to a crotch free of crusted snow, seated himself comfortably and began eating that yellow corn as if he feared that any minute some one might take it from him.

The remainder of that ear Farmer Brown's boy fastened with wire to a limb of a neighboring tree. To the trunk of still another tree he wired another ear. He did the same with two more.

"Why did you do that, Tommy?" asked Mother Brown. "Why didn't you shuck that corn from the cobs or break the ears into small pieces and put them where that Squirrel and others could get them?"

"Because Happy Jack would have carried most of them off and as likely as not had most of them stolen by some one who doesn't need them half as much as he does, or he would have buried them where they could be frozen in, just as his supply of acorns and nuts has been. Now he can eat his fill over here when he is hungry but can't carry off more than a grain or two at a time. And this way others will get a share, too. There is Sammy Jay at one of those ears now. I wouldn't be surprised if Blacky the Crow will breakfast here early tomorrow morning. Now I am going to fasten that meat bone you gave me in another tree and then take some buckwheat and other grain over in the Green Forest for the Grouse and Pheasants. I guess Bob White and his flock can make use of a little, too. This crust makes it tough on a lot of folks."

It did indeed. Some didn't mind it. Chatterer the Red Squirrel was one. While his cousin, Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel, was hungry and cold Chatterer was well fed. Being well fed he was warm and in high spirits. Tommy Tit the Chickadee, Yank Yank the Nuthatch and the Woodpecker cousins didn't mind it greatly. The only times they really minded was when they forgot and tried to light on the icy sides of trees and couldn't. The sides which had been away from the storm were dry and without ice. In and under the bark they could find enough to eat.

Whitefoot the Wood Mouse didn't mind any more than did Chatterer, for like the latter, he had a store of seeds where he could get them no matter what the weather. Out on the Green Meadows his cousin, Danny Meadow Mouse, was delighted with that hard crust. Under it he could go and come as he pleased with no danger of hungry enemies seeing him or even smelling him. And he had plenty to eat.

But over in the Green Forest and up in the Old Pasture there were hungry folk constantly growing hungrier. The crust that protected Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse shut away the chief food of Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy, for they depend to a great degree on Mice. Lightfoot the Deer and his family were finding it difficult to get about.

And then came Farmer Brown's boy. Such a difference as that made for some!

The next story: "Two Anxious Folks."

Stolen Bicycle's Just Like Jig-Saw Puzzle For Police

By JOHN MINE

Ed Northrup was busy today, fitting together pieces of his long-lost bicycle. But he won't be able to ride it. The wheels are still missing.

Four months ago, Ed, who lives at 168 Blanch street, reported to police the theft of his $25 bicycle from in front of the Park theater.

Yesterday, detectives turned up the bike's frame at a Dunbilt court home; the seat was at the home of a South Adams street lad and the kick-stand, well, it was over on Dale avenue.

The tangled trail of bicycle parts was uncovered when Ed told police that he knew who had the frame. One thing lead to another and the seat and stand also were found.

Three boys said they found the frame—minus the wheels—in a Hedges street woods. The seat was kept by one of the three "finders." The other two boys peddled the frame and stand for $3.20.

Further investigation by detectives revealed the boys who bought the frame and stand, and the bicycle was almost whole again.

Now, if Ed can only find those wheels.

JOHNSVILLE SCHOOL CLOSED BY SHERIFF

JOHNSVILLE — The Johnsville school was closed today on order of Morrow County Sheriff Tom England after the building was broken into and ransacked last night.

A safe in the superintendent's office was found with the combination lock broken off, but it was not disclosed whether the safe had been opened. File cabinets also were ransacked.

Sheriff England requested aid from Fred Dangler, fingerprint expert from the London prison farm.

Helpful Tiny Tot Builds Fire, Dies

HASTINGS, Mich. —(AP)— Five-year-old Thelma Lumbert, trying to be helpful at lunchtime, told her mother yesterday she'd start a fire in the kitchen stove.

The girl poured kerosene into the stove. An explosion followed. The mother, hanging out the family washing, rescued her daughter from the flames but not before she was fatally burned.

Aspirations of 'Columbians' Revealed

REVELATION of the seemingly insane aspirations of the Georgia-spawned organization known as "the Columbians," as found in the confessions of two youths who had been inveigled into membership, should not be considered lightly by those who recall the spread of the equally un-American Ku Klux Klan a couple of decades ago.

As disclosed by records in the hands of Georgia's attorney general, the ambitious leaders of this hate movement had hoped to follow the Hitler-inspired course of gaining power sufficient to overthrow the present form of government and establish a Nazi regime—with all the horrors of racial and religious intolerance entering into the plot.

That the whole thing is the senseless product of distorted minds, possibly coupled with mercenary motives by some of the chief instigators—as was the case with some of the discredited KKK leaders who profited richly at the expense of their deluded followers—should not serve to minimize the need for drastic action to prevent another spread of such a campaign of viciousness as has already marked the high-handed actions of "Columbians" in Georgia.

Tracing Causes of Hotel Fires

WHILE the actual starting place of the tragic hotel fire in Atlanta last Saturday may never be ascertained, a statement made by the Atlanta fire marshal to the effect that "a drunken cigaret smoker may have started the fire," and that "liquor bottles were strewn around many hotel rooms," directs attention to a danger that is sometimes overlooked but which should always be taken into account when estimating the safety of a hotel or other public building—or even of a home.

It is well known that drinking liquor in their room is common practice of a certain percentage of hotel patrons—and that carelessness in handling a lighted cigaret increases with the state of intoxication reached.

It is not uncommon, also, for an intoxicated occupant of a hotel room to smoke a cigaret after going to bed—and to drop off to sleep while holding the cigaret between his fingers . . . then the fingers relax, the still-burning cigaret drops on the bed clothes or carpet, and a fire is started . . . sometimes extinguished after prompt discovery, but sometimes frightful in its consequences.

A report from Saginaw, Mich., is to the effect that a state senator—who is himself a hotel owner—plans to introduce a bill providing a jail penalty for hotel guests who smoke in bed, but the practicability of any such legislation may be questioned.

Akron city council has just passed an ordinance which prohibits smoking in stores, factories, workshops and other places stocked with materials that burn easily, although special smoking rooms can be approved in such places.

An Akron fire inspector told of a recent fire in a theater in that city, started by a patron who stuffed a lighted butt between seat cushions, and also said that a carelessly tossed cigaret butt had started a fire in a crowded store.

As usual, the Atlanta hotel fire is bringing investigations of conditions in other cities, but if each hotel room is to constitute a constant fire hazard, due to the irresponsibility of occupants, fire-proofing of each of the rooms would seem to be the only safe procedure, rather than that the entire structure meet requirements of "fire-resistant" construction.

Damon Runyon, Portrayer of Broadway

THE DEATH of Damon Runyon takes from the American scene a unique writer. His style was inimitable. That is what made his sentences sparkle like the sharp bright lights of Broadway. His plots? Well, he always maintained that he was just a reporter, and his stories did report the often incredible people of New York's "Main Stem" and their equally incredible goings-on.

Runyon started writing news stories at the age of 12. He kept on writing them until just before his death.

His start on the rise to fame was based frankly on his desire for more money. He went to New York to make it. His agile brain did the rest.

Runyon was somewhat of a character himself. He dressed flashily. He drank coffee while his friends were probably inclined to drink concoctions they considered more stimulating.

But Runyon's writing, while it remains something unto itself, is already a part of the growing and important body of true American literature. It ranks certainly along side the works of Mark Twain in gay picturization of one segment of American life.

Gifts For the Yanks Who Gave Much

AMONG the many solicitations at Christmas time none have greater appeal to Americans than the effort now being launched by the American Legion from its headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind., for gifts for the thousands of soldiers still hospitalized from wounds received in World War II. Each of the Legion's 15,569 posts and 10,530 Auxiliary units will work for the Gifts for the Yanks Who Gave program. It is hoped that 3,000,000 packages will be collected to be distributed Christmas morning in veteran hospitals throughout the land.

With the country attuned so completely to a post-war era, it is hard to remember the many young men for whom the war is far from over, and those for whom it never will be over. Because they are out of sight in hospital beds, it would be easy to forget them.

The Legion's program is an opportunity for Americans to express in a small way their gratitude to these men who have made peace possible for the rest of the country if not for themselves.

It is interesting to note that 13 out of 14 economists have an idea that the coming depression will be "a minor affair"—and that the adjective is spelled with an "o," not an "e."

ADVICE IS CHEAP

Pearson Says American Legion Helped Oust Housing Champion

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — There was one important fact unknown to the thousands of veterans who flooded the White House with protests against the firing of Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt.

What these protestants did not know—and they included Veterans of Foreign Wars' Commander Louis Starr, Amvets Commander Ray Sawyer, and American Veterans Committee Commander Charles Bolte — was that the American Legion, influenced by the powerful real estate lobby, helped administer the last death blow to Wyatt and his veterans housing program.

The American Legion's skillful drive against the housing program began last September just before its San Francisco convention, when the powerful National Association of Home Builders sent lobbying instructions to its members to buttonhole Legion delegates and do their best to undermine the Wyatt housing program.

"Determine from your local county and state American Legion officers who the delegates are to the convention," the Home Builders lobby advised. "Talk to every Legionnaire you know to prevent any resolution endorsing Wyatt's housing program for veterans."

However, the mass of Legionnaires at San Francisco rallied to the defense of Wyatt and his housing program; so temporarily the real estate lobby lost.

But not for long. As a compromise a hand-picked committee of Legionnaires was appointed to study housing. And last week, National Commander Paul Griffith called on President Truman and spent nearly an hour cutting the ground out from under Wilson Wyatt, the man who had done his best to build homes for veterans.

Griffith told Truman he was convinced the present housing setup should be abolished and placed in the hands of an emergency board, working in unison with the Federal Housing Administration. He argued that the great majority of war vets do not want to buy, and do not have the money to buy homes in the current high market. Therefore, more multiple units for renting should be built. (The latter, incidentally, was the same recommendation previously made by Wyatt.)

Griffith added that his proposal for abolishing Wyatt's office was based on a nation-wide survey of veterans' housing conditions by a seven-man board of Legion World War II vets. This survey showed conclusively, the Legion boss contended, that Wyatt's program to get roofs over the heads of homeless vets had been a dismal failure.

Commander Griffith, however, neglected to point out that the hierarchy of his own organization deserves a large share of the blame for current housing conditions. Had Legionnaire Griffith and his cohorts used their influence to expedite passage of the Patman Bill, instead of standing on the sidelines while the measure languished for months in congress, and had they later not encouraged by their silence the strike of building material producers against price controls, the vets housing program would be a lot further advanced than it is today.

Next GOP Convention.

Although the Republican national convention is two years off, several cities are already pressing GOP moguls for the privilege of helping nominate the man they figure will be the next president of the USA.

Rep. George Bender, Ohio congressman-at-large and head of the Cleveland Republican committee, appeared before the national committee here last week to propose Cleveland as the convention site.

When he walked into the room, GOP Chairman Carroll Reece greeted him with: "Hi, cousin!" This caused one member to remark that if Bender and Reece were cousins, Reece's vote for Cleveland was certain.

"Cousin Carroll and I," Bender retorted, "are related through Adam. By the same token, you are all my cousins." (Actually, a distant cousin of Bender recently married a distant cousin of Reece.)

As soon as Bender proposed Cleveland for the convention site, Committeeman Werner Schroeder of Illinois asked, "Isn't it true that Ohio has a couple of candidates for the nomination? Don't you think it might be better to meet on neutral territory?"

"Is there a state that doesn't have a candidate?" asked Bender. "If you're going to rule out states with candidates, about the only place we could hold the 1948 Republican convention is Miami, Florida."

"Well, Iowa doesn't have a candidate that I know of," said former Chairman Harrison Spangler of Iowa.

"Then I suppose we can have the convention in a cornfield," said Bender. "Has Iowa got a convention hall and can it accommodate the convention crowd?"

GOP Shuns Park Benches.

The committee wanted assurance from Bender that Cleveland could provide 6,000 rooms for the convention period, with one lady mentioning that Republicans don't like to sleep on park benches.

"Well, Jehovah's Witnesses didn't sleep on park benches, and they needed a lot more than 6,000 rooms for their convention in Cleveland," replied the Ohio congressman.

"Furthermore," he added, "we can tell you that you'll have courteous newspapers and convention hall galleries which will leave the job of picking candidates and drawing a platform to the delegates."

One member complained that delegates to a previous convention had to sleep on boats.

"That," replied Bender, "was a matter of choice. We brought several boats into the dock and people liked sleeping on them. Also, the docks are just a few steps from the auditorium, so you don't have a long trip from your living quarters to the convention hall."

Werner Schroeder of Illinois threw one monkey wrench into Cleveland's machinery, however, when he pointed out that the Ohio state Republican committee was behind in its assessment to the national committee. Bender promised to try to get them to pay up.

Merry-Go-Round.

Secretary Byrnes held a secret showdown conference last week over Argentina, at which Assistant Secretary Spurille Braden demanded that American ambassador to Argentina, George Messersmith, be fired. Byrnes reserved decision until Christmas . . . Hard-working Dr. William Leiserson, who dropped out of sight after leaving the Labor Relations Board, has been tracked down to a book-filled sanctum in Washington where he is toiling on a three-year study of American labor for Johns Hopkins university.

Real Evidence Against Bilbo Disappointing.

WASHINGTON — If Theodore G. (The Man) Bilbo, Mississippi's stormy petrel, is to be kept out of the senate during the eightieth session of congress, it apparently is going to have to be done on the basis of evidence yet to be presented.

Such evidence would for all practical purposes, have to show itself during the hearings before the senate national defense committee.

That committee is to hear charges that Bilbo accepted gifts and favors from certain war contractors — assertedly in return for influence wielded within Washington during the war.

If such charges can be proved, it is possible that Bilbo will be denied a seat in the nation's senior law-making assembly. If not, it is probable that he will be back doing business at the same old stand—and going into his white supremacy song-and-dance routine at will.

All of which is by way of saying that the senate committee which trudged down to Jackson, Miss., recently to investigate charges of Bilbo-inspired election intimidation of Negro voters apparently has returned with officially empty hands.

Committee members, of course, are remaining officially quiet until such time as the formal report is issued. Nevertheless, if you listen about town, you no longer have much doubt as to, (1) their personal, or (2) their official opinions.

While unwilling to discuss the matter for attributable publication, at least some committee members personally are convinced that Bilbo's high-octane oratory had considerable to do with the violence Negro voters encountered in attempting to cast their ballots during the recent Democratic primary — which, incidentally, returned Bilbo to the senate.

However, their personal feelings and opinions—like those of the members of a jury—had to be sidetracked in favor of an objective observation of the evidence presented.

And, regardless of what activity might have been going on behind the scenes, apparently that evidence was not enough to call for any report likely to lead to the deposing of Mississippi's senior senator.

Although it will be some time before a formal report of the Jackson hearings is made public, there seems little doubt that—from the point of view of those people who would like to see Bilbo blasted from the senate—they were a waste of time, as far as such action is concerned.

Newspapermen who covered the hearings were not so coy of comment as the congressmen. Said one New York reporter who is known to be anti-Bilbo in personal sentiment, "apparently even the senator's numerous Mississippi opponents side with him on the issue of a white Democratic primary. . . . Many of the white people seem to want the Negro to have his own political party, just as he has his own schools and churches."

One Washington reporter who is bitterly anti-Bilbo, and whose paper editorially expresses the same sentiment, said sadly that it didn't seem likely that the senate could "very well deny Senator Bilbo his seat on the evidence" presented at Jackson.

And so it went among the others who journeyed to Jackson for the hearings.

Consensus was that, whatever the reason, there simply wasn't enough evidence brought to light in Mississippi to legally tie Bilbo with the alleged intimidation and violence at the polls.

Therefore, it appears likely that the committee's eventual report will be that, from all it could determine, "The Man" was quite legally renominated and re-elected.

Which leaves the issue of Bilbo's seating squarely up to the hearings before a senate subcommittee here.

Now for the Inspections.

"And that was supposed to be a fireproof hotel," observed a fireman of Atlanta's disaster in which more than a hundred guests were killed and scores injured.

Invariably such a tragedy as this—perhaps the worst in the history of hotel fires—brings a wave of inspections of other such properties, and examination of fire escapes, fire hose, fire extinguishers, just as the Iroquois Theater fire in Chicago brought about a theater safety crusade.

But the pity is that such examinations and reforms must wait until many lives have been lost! The pity is that city officials everywhere do not as a matter of course safeguard the public by requiring safety measures before the tragedy.—Detroit News.

Fate of Big Pipe Lines Still In Doubt.

WASHINGTON—A nice question of monopoly, easily overlooked, is involved in what should be done with the Big Inch and Little Big Inch pipelines built by the government at a cost of some $145 million to carry oil from Texas and other southwestern points to the East during the war.

The basic issue is whether these two giant government properties shall be disposed of in the public interest, with an opportunity for small and independent oil companies to use them as common carriers, or disposed of in a way to perpetuate the stranglehold monopoly already enjoyed by big oil companies through their own pipelines and tankers.

This is one of the most important decisions faced by the government in sale of surplus property.

Hitherto the bulk of the large and costly war assets, including plants, has gone into the hands of existing large corporations to make them more powerful. This is because these established giants seemingly were the only interests with sufficient financial resources to bid. It went, as the saying goes, to "them as has."

The issue over Big Inches has been beclouded by agitation for use of these pipelines to transport natural gas. This argument has a certain current persuasiveness because of the coal strike which was exploited for this purpose, though it is a fact that it would be negligible relief.

The big oil companies support such a solution. Their real objective, it is reported here, is to keep down competition that would come from the use of these lines as common carriers for oil. They either want them used for gas or, if for oil, they want to be cut in so they can retain control.

Present pipelines owned by big oil companies and on which they netted handsome wartime profits, as the records show, are supposed to be common carriers if they are in interstate commerce under the Interstate Commerce Act. But in practical effect they are not. The small and independent companies are handicapped because the facilities at each end, the means of transport to and from the lines, are controlled by the big companies.

This is an opportunity for the government to dispose of the two big pipe lines, one 24 inches in diameter, the other 20, in a way that they can be true common carriers, and so specified, without control for their own monopolistic purposes by the big companies.

A parallel gas line might be built later. Or one of the lines might be used for natural gas. But if both are utilized for natural gas, there will be little opportunity for the government to break the present "big oil" monopoly.

The opportunity is open. The government has rejected all bids for these pipelines and temporarily — for four months —they have been leased for moving natural gas in the coal strike emergency now ended.

The house surplus property committee, headed by lame duck Rep. Slaughter (D., Mo.), is investigating the whole subject.

The committee's attitude seems to be to emphasize the strictly cash-in-hand return, without due consideration to the other specific injunctions against monopoly which have a definite long-time value in our economy. This, of course, has an immediate appeal to the taxpayer, but he might remember that, in the long run, he will have to pay far more through the excessive prices that monopoly exacts.

Lewis Confident of High Court Victory.

WASHINGTON—You could almost hear a sigh of relief go up from the entire country as the coal strike was ended and the deadly threat of industrial paralysis lifted. At the same time, if you listened closely, you could hear a low moan from certain members of the Supreme Court who realize the difficulty and the delicacy of the decision they now must render.

If, as Mr. Dooley remarked, the Supreme Court reads the election returns, then there can be no doubt of the decision. It will go against John L. Lewis, the chief of the United Mine Workers who defied the government and was found in contempt of a federal injunction.

But the men who make up this court have proved time and again that they are quite outside the traditions of the past. Bitterness and strife have gone beyond the bounds of formal opinion.

Lewis and his lawyers are confident that they will win a verdict in the high court. That was one reason for the grandiloquence of the flourish with which the miners' chieftain resigned himself to the decision of the court and the constitution.

Not a little of this confidence is based on a 5 to 4 decision by the court in a similar case a year ago. In that case, the deep dissensions which have set the justices against each other were fully aired.

In the earlier case, R. J. Thomas, then head of the CIO Auto Workers union, was found in contempt of a Texas court and sentenced to three days in jail and a fine of $100. Thomas had announced his intention of defying a Texas law requiring all labor organizers to register and get credentials before soliciting members. When he announced his intention, the Texas attorney general got a restraining order forbidding Thomas from violating the law.

Thomas went to Houston and addressed 300 workers for Local 1002 of the Oil Workers' union. In the course of his talk, he solicited all who were not members of the union to join, and he specifically asked Pat O'Sullivan to sign up. The Texas supreme court held that this was in contempt of the restraining order and upheld the sentence of the lower court.

But by a 5 to 4 decision, the U. S. Supreme Court reversed it. Justice Wiley Rutledge wrote the majority opinion. He found that the Texas law violated the first amendment of the Constitution guaranteeing the right of free speech and free press. Since the law was invalid, therefore the contempt did not apply, as the majority saw it.

"We think a requirement that one must register before he undertakes to make a public speech to enlist support for a lawful movement is quite incompatible with the requirements of the first amendment," Rutledge wrote.

He was joined by Justice Douglas, Black, Murphy and Jackson. Douglas wrote a brief concurring opinion, agreed to also by Black and Murphy, in which he made a significant addition to Rutledge's reasoning. While in Thomas' case it was an abridgement of free speech, Douglas added:

"But once he used the economic power which he has over other men and their jobs to influence their action, he is doing more than exercising the freedom of speech protected by the first amendment."

Justice Roberts, since retired, wrote the dissent. He challenged his colleagues' findings in strong language.

Thomas, he pointed out, could have obtained a card as a union organizer by mail without the payment of a fee and merely by signing his name, affiliation and credentials.

In his dissent, he was joined by the late Chief Justice Stone and Justices Reed and Frankfurter.

Farmer's Diary: "No Fuel Shortage"

IT WAS six above zero in our valley one morning last week. The community husker was parked in a farmer's barn, unused. Instead I saw two neighbors, well clothed in heavy caps and coats, start for the woods soon after seven. One carried a long two-handled crosscut over his shoulder. The thin flexible piece of steel moved up and down with every step. In his other hand he carried a newly sharpened ax. The other man followed with three heavy wedges and a 10-pound sledge.

They walked upgrade toward the border of the woods. With each exhaled breath, steamy vapor moved to the west like puffs of smoke. The morning sun reflected brightly against the sensitive bobbing saw and freshly ground ax blade, while in the valley where I stood, the sun was still behind the wooded hill.

Frost was white on weed and stubble. The path these woodsmen made, abreast, was as clearly etched as if it had been in snow. Crisp whiteness clung to every twig of the forest trees beyond the slope. Wood smoke rose lazily from the chimney then leveled off to form a long translucent zone of blue and purple cloud.

Presently I heard the crackle of flames and saw red fire tongues leap from a dry, hollow stump. Leaves blown by the wet wind had filled the cavity, and roots decayed above the surface of the ground furnished natural draft to make a temporary open furnace.

Soon I heard the rhythmic motion of the saw, pulled back and forth at right angles to the log. The sharp steel rang against the [illegible] wood, and echoed through the tall line of standing maples.

DEFENBACHER RETAINS POST

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Gov.-Elect Thomas J. Herbert has announced he would retain Herbert D. Defenbacher as director of finance, continuing him in the position he has held for seven years.

Defenbacher is the fourth cabinet appointment of the incoming Republican governer, who will take office Jan. 13.

A Republican, he was appointed originally to the position in June, 1939, by Republican Governor John W. Bricker and was retained by Frank J. Lausche, a Democrat, when he became governor in 1944.

He is 58, has had 32 years' experience in state and municipal financing and auditing.

He worked for 19 years as a state examiner, auditing financial accounts in practically every Ohio city. He next became deputy supervisor in the state auditor's office and held the position six years before becoming superintendent of budget, a job he filled for a year.

The duties of superintendent of budget are now combined with those of director of finance.

Defenbacher was born in Harrison county and lived in Dover, Tuscarawas county, for 35 years before moving to Columbus. He has been here 21 years.

Winchell — On Broadway

THE SUBJECT of early and untimely death has fascinated poets and dramatists since the first accident . . . In his translation of "The Iliad," Alexander Pope said, "Short is my date, but deathless my renown." He could have put these words into the mouths of the famous who died too soon rather than into the mouths of heroes of the Trojan wars . . . Shakespeare said, "Let us sit upon the ground and tell sad stories of the deaths of kinds" . . . These were some deaths of some kings.

* * *

The magnificent eccentric of the dance, Isadora Duncan, broke hearts on most of the continents and lived at a peak of excitement few, if any, of her devotees have reached. While still beautiful, vibrant and inventive, she went for an automobile ride with a friend. To other friends she said, prophetically enough, "I go to glory!" . . . With this extravagant goodbye, she wrapped a bright scarf around her throat, the same scarf which, becoming twisted in a wheel of that chariot of death, throttled her of the gift of life.

Many students of the theater believe Sidney Howard is yet to be fully appreciated . . . Certainly "The Silver Cord," "They Knew What They Wanted," and "The Late Christopher Bean" can't be improved upon . . . This major playwright was still in his prime and enjoying a day on his farm. A threshing machine and ill-timed fate snatched him away.

To some critics and observers it was just another pretty musical released by Paramount. In it was a wide-eyed darling and an affecting song called "With My Eyes Wide Open, I'm Dreaming." She had been dreaming of "arriving," and this was it. She awoke to find that with this big-time role stardom was hers. A few days later an automobile smashup put a sudden end to it . . . Dorothy Dell was a star no longer—not, at least, on this globe.

* * *

A car and Hollywood put the quietus on another kind of career . . . It belonged to Nathaniel West, who close to Christmas in 1940, had a good job writing for a studio and a host of respectable friends . . . They admired him for three former books (including the recently republished novel about a lonely-hearts newspaperman, "Miss Lonelyhearts") and for his last, "The Day of the Locust," the best novel yet written about the screen colony . . . Something happened to the car, and in the destruction of it died as fresh a writing talent as his generation was to know.

He was renowned while still in his twenties, famous for his lyric poetry and for "radical, dangerous ideas." Young ladies swooned at the forbidden name of Percy Bysshe Shelley with fear and trembling . . . Addicted to the romantic exploration of the beautiful, he was sailing in the Gulf of Spezia July 8, 1822 . . . His career was at a peak, and he was just 30 years old. Nevertheless, a storm arose, capsized the boat and drowned the poet . . . They buried his mortal body on the nearby beach, but his heart was buried beside another young genius of his generation, John Keats, in Rome.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK — With considerable surprise I saw by Miss Hedda Hopper's Hollywood column one recent day that Leo Durocher, the manager of the Brooklyn ball club, again was a house-guest in California of his friend, George Raft, the moving picture actor-gangster and member in good standing of the underworld of Hollywood and Broadway. I was surprised, because only a few days before I learned on excellent authority that when Durocher conferred with Branch Rickey, the general manager of the Brooklyn baseball firm, in Columbus, O., preliminary to Durocher's retention as the team manager for 1947, he promised Mr. Rickey that he would divorce himself from his old associations including Raft and Raft's dear friend, Bugsy Siegel. Bugsy is a blue-book boy, meaning that he is listed in the social register of the bureau of narcotics of the treasury. Mr. Rickey has an unfavorable opinion of Raft, and only Monday he told me that in 1947 Raft will be excluded not only from Durocher's dressing rooms of the Brooklyn players but from the Brooklyn ball-park as well.

Enlarging on Durocher's social problems, it will be recalled that Durocher loaned his New York apartment to Raft for a dicing party in which a chump named Martin Shurin lost $18,500 to Raft, according to the early returns, reduced to $13,500 in Shurin's closing statement to the New York district attorney, on 13 straight passes by Raft, all fours and tens and most of them "the hard way," a truly miraculous feat.

TWO DAYS after Miss Hopper reported that Durocher again was a guest of Raft in a household much frequented by gangsters, Rickey and Durocher met the baseball writers in one of those formal press conferences in Brooklyn to announce that Durocher had signed his 1947 contract. The impression was given that Rickey had exacted no promises or assurances. That version is incorrect, for the fact is that Rickey discussed little else in the Columbus meeting, and that Durocher, as a condition prior to the actual negotiations as to his salary and other terms, promised to keep out of questionable company.

Rickey said Durocher was entirely honest in baseball matters and would not knowingly give information to gangsters on which they might arrange betting coups, but "dumb as hell when it comes to figuring the consequences of an association."

"He has lined up with us 100 per cent," Mr. Rickey said, meaning that Durocher had promised to avoid the appearances of evil. As an old baseball man, Mr. Rickey knows many angles, known also to the criminal underworld, by which a manager who is "dumb as hell" that way could give underworld companions a strong betting advantage through advance information without any guilty intent.

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

HAVING agreed on March 10 as the date and on Moscow as the place for the German and Austrian peace settlements, there is the usual disagreement about the procedure. Shall there be deputies to prepare drafts of treaties, how shall the smaller nations be heard, shall the foreign ministers stand under Klieg lights and carry on their discussions with microphones?

This excessive interest in the mechanism of the peacemaking is a certain sign of an insufficient attention to the substance. For the most perfect procedure will not insure the goodness of the settlements, and on the other hand good settlements can be made under almost any procedure.

This debate about the procedure of the Big Four rests on the assumption that nothing happens and nothing can be done except when they confront each other formally—that, for example, the views of Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Denmark cannot be heard unless the Big Four solemnly agree to "hear" them, and to listen to them, and consider seriously what they have to say.

But why act as if the normal methods of diplomacy were denied to Mr. Byrnes when he is making peace settlements? The normal thing to do, to have done, would be for the United States government to be in continual and intimate discussion with the Allied governments, working not through public declarations but through private negotiations to reconcile, compose and synthesize British, French, American, Belgian, Dutch and also Czeshoslovak, Polish and Russian claims and views about Germany with a view to shaping an American policy for Germany.

The position we take about Germany should be the result of these negotiations; it should reflect the maximum agreement that Europe will accept and support.

It is a false conception of the peace-making to picture Mr. Byrnes dreaming up an American policy, Mr. Bevins a British policy and then sitting down with Mr. Molotov and the French foreign minister as a tribunal of judges when they talk with one another.

The American policy, for example, should not be fixed by what Mr. Byrnes' advisers can agree upon; it should be formed by agreement with our allies and partners after thorough negotiations with them.

Then there would be no real question of the veto. Mr. Molotov could not forbid us to talk as much as we choose with our allies, and he would not even try seriously to forbid us. The proposals we made in the formal meetings, where "procedure" operates, would already reflect the consensus of many nations.

He may be expected to disagree with some of the proposals, and compromises will have to be made. But if he wants a settlement, he could not reject the proposals flatly or fail to give them great respect.

For if he did, he would be taking the risk that the agreements might nevertheless be put into force in what is, after all, the best part of Germany and the strongest part of Europe.

Instead of being able to veto a European settlement, Mr. Molotov could only veto Soviet participation in the huge benefits of a European settlement.

But such an American policy would require something which Mr. Byrnes has never yet had—a conception of Europe, not as an arena of conflict between the Soviet Union and America, but as an ancient, deeply founded political system which must be reorganized, restored, revived and treated with great deference and affection if a good peace is to be made.

If he must go to Moscow himself, which in the circumstances is almost certainly unwise, he should prepare for the meeting by enlarging and diversifying his own staff—bringing into it advisers and negotiators who have not spent so much of their time for nearly two years on eastern Europe and the Middle East that they have had little time to think about western Europe and about Europe as a whole.

Ontario Girl Hit By Truck Near Home; Reported in Fair Condition.

A five-year-old child was seriously injured yesterday when she ran into the path of a truck on U. S. Route 30 in Ontario.

Phyllis Harrison, daughter of Mrs. Viola Harrison, of Ontario, received a possible fractured jaw and knee and lacerations when she ran from behind a westbound truck into the path of an eastbound truck driven by Glenn McKnight of Marion, sheriff's officers said.

She was taken to General hospital by ambulance. Her condition today was listed as "fair."

Wheatley Improves.

Meanwhile, John E. Wheatley, Mansfield Senior high school junior, who was seriously injured in a highway accident Tuesday which cost the life of his classmate, Harvey A. Solomon jr., was reported as "slightly improved" today at Ashland Samaritan hospital.

Funeral services for the Solomon youth will be conducted Friday at 1 p. m. at Jones Memorial by Dr. Herbert S. Garnes, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church. Burial will be in Loudonville cemetery. The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Solomon, 136 Poplar street.

$1,528 Fund Turned Over To War Chest

A $1,528 balance in the fund used to provide "going-away" parties for Richland county men and women during the war has been turned over to the Richland County War Chest by the Richland Victory Civic committee.

Organized in December, 1940, a year before the war began, the Civic committee was active in staging entertainments at the American Legion home and in providing gifts for the county's service men and women.

Serving as a "morale booster," the committee operated on volunteer gifts for the first two years and on funds provided by the War Chest the past three years. In the five years of operation receipts amounted to $10,982.

Saltzgaber said that more than $8,000 of the total received went for gifts of Red Cross sewing kits for the service men and women and for farewell entertainments.

Also serving on the civic committee were Mrs. Opal Richards, as treasurer; John G. Routzon as corresponding secretary, and Joseph Bertka as recording secretary.

Henry G. Brunner, war chest president, said notes of appreciation for the work done by the committee have been sent to the organization's heads.

ON-JOB VETS URGED TO REPORT DELAYS

In an all-out effort to see that every eligible veteran training on-the-job or going to school receives a subsistence check by Dec. 20, the Cleveland Regional Office of the Veterans Administration today urged that all veterans not receiving regular checks contact their training officers at once.

Veterans unable to contact their training officers should write to: Subsistence Complaint Unit, Veterans Administration, Cleveland 14, Ohio. The complaint should state the full name of the veteran, his claim number, date of enrollment, whether under P. L. 346 or P. L. 16, and whether an award letter has been received.

Veterans are asked not to duplicate complaints already made to the VA through training ofifcers or service officers of the various veterans organizations. Duplicate complaints will hamper payment of subsistence allowances, it was emphasized.

CORRECTION

Because of a typographical error, yesterday's story in The News-Journal on the declaration of a $1 cash dividend by the Empire Steel corporation said a "50 per cent dividend was paid Aug. 4, 1945." The sentence should have read "A 50 per cent stock dividend was paid Aug. 4, 1945."

Up and Down The Street

WE'RE LUCKY—

Mansfielders who remember what happened two years ago today were probably glad it was raining today. The city's worst snowstorm in recent years struck Dec. 11 and 12, 1944, blocking traffic and isolating many rural communities. The snow packed into deep ruts in Mansfield streets, and cars and buses skidded in and out of them most of the winter. Nearly a foot of snow fell in the December storm and more kept coming during the next two or three months, keeping the ground covered until March.

LUCKY BREAK—

Attorney James V. Will and Council Clerk Charles Stecker, who returned from a trip to Georgia last night, almost registered at the ill-fated Winecoff hotel at Atlanta. Stecker said if they hadn't been able to get rooms at the Hotel Robert Fulton, their next stop would have been the Winecoff. Both Mansfielders were at the scene of the fire while some of the 122 bodies of victims were still being carried out of the Winecoff.

DALEY TO DAVENPORT—

This could be titled "when a feller needs two friends or a walkie talkie." Chief Eldin Davenport, of the Mansfield naval recruiting station, couldn't get his "jallopy" started this dewy morn. Called Chief J. T. Daley, also of the station, for a push. Daley to Davenport (the names would make a good vaudeville team) "Be right over, pal." Imagine Daley's surprise! his own "jallopy" wouldn't start. Efforts to call Davenport failed as he was waiting in the rain for Daley to be right over. Result: Daley to Davenport—one hour later. Davenport to Daley—censored!

GRAND JURY CALLED IN TRAILER SLAYING

ATHENS—(AP)—The admission of a 25-year-old war veteran student that he smothered his pretty wife with bedclothes in their trailer near Ohio university will be considered by an Athens county grand jury in special session Monday, Prosecutor Gordon Gray announced today.

"Certain events the night of Dec. 2 still are being investigated," the prosecutor said, emphasizing that Jewell Peters, the accused Ohio university student, made an "admission" which did "not constitute a complete signed confession" of the Dec. 3 death of his wife, Leah Mae, 24, a former Newark, O., resident.

SURVEY SHOWS MANSFIELD'S STAFF SMALL

Per Capita Protection Less Than in Other Communities, Agency Reports.

Mansfield has fewer policemen per capita than most other cities, but its police and "other local influences" keep crime at a low level, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported today.

An FBI survey gives Mansfield 1.10 police employes for every 1,000 residents. This compares with 1.36 per 1,000 for all cities in Mansfield's population group, 25,000 to 50,000.

However, Mansfield's ratio has been changed somewhat by the addition of another employe which boosted the total to 42, including 40 police officers. The FBI's survey was made when the department had 41 employes.

Says the FBI: "Despite the relative smallness of the Mansfield police force, its effectiveness is indicated to some extent by its success in keeping local crime at a low level.

"The credit cannot be attributed solely to the police, however," the FBI says, "as other local influences have had a beneficial effect as a crime deterrent."

The survey covered all cities with more than 2,500 people. It was made in an effort to control the continued growth of crime, which has increased eight per cent during the first nine months of 1946 over the same period in 1945, according to the FBI.

WOMEN GUESTS RIBBED BY CLUB

A tribute to women and a discussion of the problems sometimes raised by their existence was the theme of a program in the lighter vein sponsored by the Mansfield Gyro club in the Mansfield-Leland hotel ballroom last night.

More than than 20 toasts and responses were given by members and their wives and guests. Max Worthley, club president, presided as toastmaster.

Acknowledgements of the virtues of women were given by a toast to "Modern Woman, a Tribute," by Ray J. Hammer. Other toasts included "Marriage Through the Eyes of a Married Man," by Gordon E. Eusey, and "Marriage Through the Eyes of a Bachelor," by Marion E. Hetler.

Hetler declared that although he wasn't a bachelor, he had obtained his information "first-hand from a reliable bachelor."

John M. Lehman reported on "What Well-Known Books Say About Women," and Clarence C. Luft and John L. Catlett debated on the subject, "Resolved: That the Wife Should Take Charge of the Family Purse."

Reporter Gives Vivid Picture of Yugoslav Life; Says She Found None Starving In Europe

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Some 60 members of the Mansfield Optimist, Lions, and Co-operative clubs and their wives left a luncheon meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel yesterday with a better idea of the political intrigue and unrest "Behind the Iron Curtain In Yugoslavia."

They undoubtedly had a better appreciation of their individual freedom, too, after hearing Mrs. Helen Waterhouse of the Akron Beacon-Journal relate her personal experiences on a recent assignment in Europe.

Outlining her tour in a step-by-step account, Mrs. Waterhouse, one of Ohio's leading newspaperwomen, presented startling details of the Communist regime in the Balkan country.

Americans Unwelcome.

"The American flag means very little in Yugoslavia, today," Mrs. Waterhouse began, "and an American is not welcome in the country."

One of the highlights of her talk was the description of an American Memorial Day service, held just outside Belgrade while she was there. The services, she said, were held for the some 200 American fliers who had parachuted into the Yugoslavian hills and were slain.

Accompanied by an American army major and the engineer who laid out the cemetery, Mrs. Waterhouse attended the services, which were interrupted by Partisan shouts of "Heil, Stalin!" and "Heil, Tito!"

Leaving the cemetery, Mrs. Waterhouse recounted that two unknown men accosted the engineer and asked him to come along with them. The angered major asked the men if their actions indicated "slabogna" the Yugoslavian Partisan word for freedom. Mrs. Waterhouse said the engineer was marched away, presumably to "Osna", Partisan word for prison. There has been no word of the engineer since then.

While there, Mrs. Waterhouse, under guard most of the time and constantly kept from sending stories to her paper, was, however, able to get an interview with Madame Mihailovich, prior to the execution of her war-leader husband. She displayed a silver cigaret case which she bought from the Madame for 30 American dollars, "a fortune in Yugoslavia," Mrs. Waterhouse said.

"The Mihailovich trial was fixed from the start," the speaker continued. "The evidence piled up against him at the very beginning left no hope that he would be acquitted."

Mrs. Waterhouse was the only American woman correspondent to cover the trial.

"After the Yugoslavs had found out I was a reporter I thought I might as well make myself known at the Bureau of Propaganda," she continued.

"The officers there assured me that Yugoslavia was one of the most forward thinking countries today," she related. "No one was allowed out of Belgrade. Children as well as adults carried their life histories and political affiliations with them constantly. If anyone was challenged for their papers and were without them, they immediately became new members of the Osna encampments."

Mrs. Waterhouse said that throughout Europe and even in Greece there was no indication that people were starving. The inhabitants of the displaced persons encampments "seemed comfortable and well cared for," she said.

"In Greece I saw the men, women and children sitting around in the afternoon and sipping ice cream topped with whipped cream and drinking Turkish coffee."

Mrs. Waterhouse was introduced by Howard Doner, program chairman for the luncheon.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, December 13.

IT IS probable that the current impediments or block arresting the wheels of progress will just as suddenly and strangely spin into action, not only through the friendly and timely intervention of those in high places, but as well due to a radical reorganization of underlying factors, with new tactics and a concentration of the energies and faculties for aggressive action. However, this should not be carried to excess or extravagance, since the mentality and emotions are not entirely dependable, being a bit confused or obscure. Heed sound counsel of superiors.

Those whose birthday it is may find to their satisfaction that recent peculiar situations blocking their plans and established procedures may quite as suddenly spring into action, with highly accelerated speed under stimulated forces and energies — strenuous and determined to vanquish all impediments and erratic attacks. In this effort, superiors or influential and far-seeing persons may substantially contribute, advising a radical revision or reorganization of plans and objectives. Sound ideas, hard work and studied analysis of conditions succeed, but snap judgments or hasty decisions are fatal.

A child born on this day will have energy and initiative of a progressive and constructive pattern, but may defeat itself by wavering or hasty judgments.

Former Traveling Salesman Settles Down in New London

NEW LONDON — Fred H. (Ted) Cunningham, for many years a traveling salesman "on the road," today still is on the road—demonstrating new automobiles to prospective customers.

Cunningham, a strapping six-

footer with a sparkle in his eye, formerly thought nothing of a five or six hundred mile trip in a day.

Until a few years ago he was field representative for the C. E. Ward company, New London manufacturers. His headquarters was Kansas City, Mo., and he frequently made hurried trips to Texas or Washington to close a deal for the home firm.

Since quitting the road several years ago, Cunningham ventured into several field. At one time he was owner and operator of the News Center, New London candy store. He later purchased the old Nathan Palmer farm in the southern section of the township.

In recent years, however, he had operated the Cunningham Motor Sales. He sold the Palmer farm in 1945 and moved to New London.

He formerly was secretary of the New London Labor Day commission, serving on committees where his servies were needed.

There is no rainy season in Puerto Rico.

SHELBY PLANS HOLIDAY LIGHTS

SHELBY—The Shelby Garden club has made arrangements for a large 30-foot Christmas tree to be placed in the Central school park by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today.

The Better Business club will furnish lights for the tree and the light department will string the lights.

Employes of the street department, with the aid of the Better Business club, sponsors of the street decorations, have started the most extensive decorations since Pearl Harbor, M. E. Berkley, president of the club, said.

In addition, Gilbert Scott, contractor, has been named to decorate the white way light posts with pine boughs.

Unique Club In Bucyrus Has 21 Survivors After 16 Years

BUCYRUS — For the 16th consecutive year, William A. Blicke, Bucyrus banker, was host Tuesday night at a dinner for Bucyrus Fifty Year club members.

The organization is composed of businessmen who have completed 50 years in the same business in Bucyrus.

Since establishing the unique club 16 years ago, 15 members have been lost by death. All but one of the 21 living members were present for this year's reunion. Absent was J. E. Faulkner, who is ill in City hospital.

No new members became available for membership during the last two years.

Also guests at the Tuesday night dinner, served in Good Hope Lutheran parish house, were fellow members of the Bucyrus Rotary club and a number of guests.

Guests Receive Book.

Robert Moulton, former state representative from Crawford county, was the speaker. His talk, on the subject "Two Worlds", was built about a comparison of Russia and the United States.

As has been the custom since forming the club, the host presented each guest with a bound souvenir book tied in gold, containing pictures of all club members, living and deceased and a brief history of the organization.

The Fifty Year Club is unique in that it has no officers, no by-laws and no dues. The club meets but once each year, as guests of the founder.

Mrs. George Root, 307 Ashland Ave., Detroit, says, "My cakes are always tops now that I use Velvet. Whenever I try another cake flour, I realize how wonderful Velvet is."

Mrs. Root knows Velvet. She is one of the many good cooks who have helped give Velvet its leadership. Why not follow her example and use Velvet for all your baking.

Where VELVET Is BestKnown
Women Buy More VELVET Than Any Other Cake Flour
Actual Survey Shows Velvet Ahead of All Other Cake Flours

Yes—ma'am—it's true. Where Velvet is best known, women actually buy more Velvet than any other cake flour, according to an amazing independent survey.

There's a reason for this. They say they get the best results when they use Velvet. The tenderest, flakiest pastry—the fluffiest, lightest cakes—that's what every woman wants, and Henkel's Velvet Cake Flour can help you to get them.

Velvet is such a wonderful flour because its quality is carefully controlled. It's uniform—every bag just the way it should be.

Just try this great flour and see if you don't join all the other good cooks who say, "Velvet's tops."

PEACH UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

¼ cup butter, melted
½ cup brown sugar firmly packed
Dash salt
2½ tin of peach halves, well drained
⅞ cup sifted Velvet Cake Flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, separated
¾ cup sugar
⅓ cup water
Few drops almond extract
Tart red jelly

Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet or a heavy cake pan. Remove from heat and stir in the sugar and dash of salt. Arrange peach halves in syrup, hollow side down.

Sift flour, measure, and resift 3 times with baking powder, and salt. Beat egg yolks until light and lemon colored. Gradually add ½ of the sugar and beat until light. Add water and extract and mix well. Add flour mixture gradually and mix lightly. Beat egg whites until almost stiff. Add remaining sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture stands in peaks. Fold into batter lightly but thoroughly. Pour over peaches and bake in a moderate oven 350°F. for 30 to 35 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand 5 minutes. Turn out onto serving plate. Fill each peach cavity with jelly and serve immediately.

6 to 8 servings

Coupons that entitle you to scarce aluminum ware are still in every bag of Velvet Flour.

'Jake' Brubach, City Employe, Retires After 20 Years

By JOHN MINE

Hard-working Jacob H. "Jake" Brubach, veteran employe of the Mansfield garbage-ash department, has hung up his route cards and over-alls for the last time.

After more than 20 years service, "Jake", at 65, has decided to turn his tasks over to "the younger fellows." But he still isn't admitting that they'll outwork him.

Described as one of the department's most conscientious workers, Jake's roaring laugh and ever-present pipe were known throughout the Third and Fourth wards in which he directed a collection crew.

He's known, too, for his energy and for the jibes he used to toss at younger crewmen when they found a job "too tough." Jake would push them aside and do it himself.

And, rain or shine, Jake was on the job. When other men grumbled about the weather, he'd shout: "C'mon, you guys, a little rain isn't going to melt you!" Jake took pride in keeping his route "cleaned up"—regardless of the weather.

* * *

Hobby Is Fishing.

But Jake has retired now, perhaps to concentrate on his favorite hobby, fishing. Annually, he goes to Canada "where the bitin's good."

"He'll be missed," mused one of the men who started with Jake in July, 1926, when the city's garbage was collected by two, horse-drawn wagons. Jake leaves behind two other veterans: Frank Apple and Merle Black.

An iron molder before he began to work for the city, Jake lives at 282 Sheridan place. A brother, Fred, operates one of the city's oldest butcher shops and a son, Chester, is in the printing business.

KEEPING RECORD STRAIGHT

CLEVELAND — (UP) — If the loops and curves made by federal court reporters here were straightened out and laid end to end they would reach from Cleveland to Detroit, about 170 miles, it was estimated today. Under a new rule the three court reporters here must record every "ah" and "ahem."

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennett Cerf

HARRY HERSHFIELD and Lou Holtz are two of the greatest storytellers of all time. I've heard both of them relate the following account, so propose to split the credit for it between them.

Shapiro lost his last dollar at the Jamaica race track and came to his old friend, Rosenblat, for a job. "It ain't like I had nothing to offer you," he said modestly. "I think most of Corona would agree I am positively the greatest salesman in town."

"This I do not propose to argue with you," conceded Rosenblatt. "We don't need anybody in our regular line just now, but I just bought a hundred dozen boxes of cigars which maybe a great salesman like you could turn over at six or seven dollars a box."

"Nothing to it," said Shapiro, but when friend after friend sampled his cigars and promptly booted him out of their offices, he lost heart. Finally he dumped the boxes on Rosenblatt's desk and said, "Something I got to tell you. I ain't the best salesman in town after all. I'm the second best. The fellow who sold you those cigars—he's the best!"

A rat is said to do at least one dollar's worth of damage a year on the farm and twice that much in the city. The total annual damage is estimated at $200,000,000.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

A Grand American Tradition

The Coppens had a grand old family reunion last week—for the first time since the war.

Big and little Coppens came, by car and train, from as far west as Nebraska and as far east as Vermont. They crowded Dee and Jane's house, set up quarters in the barns, or stopped with neighbors—and a jollier gathering you couldn't have imagined!

I was asked to their final Saturday night supper, when they sang old songs, drank beer and cider, reminisced. Both Coppens and Rhode cats—Vermont accents and Alabama drawls—doctors and farmers ... all with their differences of taste and politics, yet as close and harmonious in spirit as a group could be.

From where I sit, it's a great American tradition—not just family reunions, but the ability to get along as one harmonious family, regardless of differences of taste—whether it's taste for politics or farming, beer or cider.

Former Traveling Salesman Settles Down in New London

NEW LONDON — Fred H (Ted) Cunningham, for many years a traveling salesman "on the road" today still is on the road—demonstrating new automobiles to prospective customers.

Cunningham, a strapping six-

FRED H. CUNNINGHAM

footer with a sparkle in his eye, formerly thought nothing of a five or six hundred mile trip in a day

Until a few years ago he was field representative for the C. E. Ward company, New London manufacturers. His headquarters was Kansas City, Mo., and he frequently made hurried trips to Texas or Washington to close a deal for the home firm.

Since quitting the road several years ago, Cunningham ventured into several fields At one time he was owner and operator of the News Center, New London candy store. He later purchased the old Nathan Palmer farm in the southern section of the township.

In recent years, however, he had operated the Cunningham Motor Sales He sold the Palmer farm in 1945 and moved to New London.

He formerly was secretary of the New London Labor Day commission, serving on committees where his services were needed.

There is no rainy season in Puerto Rico.

"MY CAKES ARE ALWAYS "TOPS" NOW THAT I USE VELVET"
—SAYS MRS. GEORGE ROOT
Mrs. George Root, 307 Ashland Ave., Detroit, says, "My cakes are always tops now that I use Velvet. Whenever I try another cake flour, I realize how wonderful Velvet is"
Mrs Root knows Velvet She is one of the many good cooks who have helped give Velvet its leadership Why not follow her example and use Velvet for all your baking.
Where VELVET Is Best Known
Women Buy More VELVET Than Any Other Cake Flour
Actual Survey Shows Velvet Ahead of All Other Cake Flours
Yes—ma'am—it's true Where Velvet is best known, women actually buy more Velvet than any other cake flour, according to an amazing independent survey.
There's a reason for this. They say they get the best results when they use Velvet The tenderest, flakiest pastry—the fluffiest, lightest cakes—that's what every woman wants, and Henkel's Velvet Cake Flour can help you to get them
Velvet is such a wonderful flour because its quality is carefully controlled It's uniform—every bag just the way it should be.
Just try this great flour and see if you don't join all the other good cooks who say, "Velvet's tops."
PEACH UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE
¼ cup butter, melted
½ cup brown sugar firmly packed
Dash salt
2½ can of peach halves, well drained
⅞ cup sifted Velvet Cake Flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, separated
¾ cup sugar
⅓ cup water
Few drops almond extract
Tart red jelly
Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet or a heavy cake pan. Remove from heat and stir in the sugar and dash of salt. Arrange peach halves in syrup, hollow side down.
Sift flour, measure, and resift 3 times with baking powder, and salt. Beat egg yolks until light and lemon colored. Gradually add ½ of the sugar and beat until light Add water and extract and mix well. Add flour mixture gradually and mix lightly. Beat egg whites until almost stiff Add remaining sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture stands in peaks Fold into batter lightly but thoroughly. Pour over peaches and bake in a moderate oven 350°F for 30 to 35 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand 5 minutes. Turn out onto serving plate. Fill each peach cavity with jelly and serve immediately.

'Jake' Brubach, City Employe, Retires After 20 Years

By JOHN MINE

Hard-working Jacob H. "Jake" Brubach, veteran employe of the Mansfield garbage-ash department, has hung up his route cards and over-alls for the last time.

After more than 20 years service, "Jake", at 65, has decided to turn his tasks over to "the younger fellows." But he still isn't admitting that they'll outwork him.

Described as one of the department's most conscientious workers, Jake's roaring laugh and ever-present pipe were known throughout the Third and Fourth wards in which he directed a collection crew.

He's known, too, for his energy and for the jibes he used to toss at younger crewmen when they found a job "too tough." Jake would push them aside and do it himself.

And, rain or shine, Jake was on the job. When other men grumbled about the weather, he'd shout "C'mon, you guys, a little rain isn't going to melt you!" Jake took pride in keeping his route "cleaned up"—regardless of the weather.

Hobby Is Fishing.

But Jake has retired now, perhaps to concentrate on his favorite hobby, fishing. Annually, he goes to Canada "where the bitin's good."

"He'll be missed," mused one of the men who started with Jake in July, 1926, when the city's garbage was collected by two, horse-drawn wagons. Jake leaves behind two other veterans: Frank Apple and Merle Black.

An iron molder before he began to work for the city, Jake lives at 282 Sheridan place. A brother, Fred, operates one of the city's oldest butcher shops and a son, Chester, is in the printing business.

KEEPING RECORD STRAIGHT

CLEVELAND — (UP) — If the loops and curves made by federal court reporters here were straightened out and laid end to end they would reach from Cleveland to Detroit, about 170 miles, it was estimated today. Under a new rule the three court reporters here must record every "ah" and "ahem."

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennett Cerf

HARRY HERSHFIELD and Lou Holtz are two of the greatest storytellers of all time. I've heard both of them relate the following account, so propose to split the credit for it between them.

Shapiro lost his last dollar at the Jamaica race track and came to his old friend, Rosenblat, for a job. "It ain't like I had nothing to offer you," he said modestly. "I think most of Corona would agree I am positively the greatest salesman in town."

"This I do not propose to argue with you," conceded Rosenblatt. "We don't need anybody in our regular line just now, but I just bought a hundred dozen boxes of cigars which maybe a great salesman like you could turn over at six or seven dollars a box."

"Nothing to it," said Shapiro, but when friend after friend sampled his cigars and promptly booted him out of their offices, he lost heart. Finally he dumped the boxes on Rosenblatt's desk and said, "Something I got to tell you. I ain't the best salesman in town after all. I'm the second best. The fellow who sold you those cigars—he's the best!"

A rat is said to do at least one dollar's worth of damage a year on the farm and twice that much in the city. The total annual damage is estimated at $200,000,000.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

A Grand American Tradition

The Cappons had a grand all family reunion last week—for the first time since the war.

Big and little Cappons came, by car and train, from as far west as Nebraska and as far east as Vermont. They crowded Dee and Jane's house, set up quarters in the barns, or stopped with neighbors—and a jollier gathering you couldn't have imagined!

I was asked to their final Saturday night supper, when they sang old songs, drank beer and cider, reminisced. Burk Cappons and Brooks once—Vermont accents and Alabama drawls—doctors and farmers . . . all with their differences of taste and politics, yet as close and harmonious in spirit as a group could be.

From where I sit, it's a great American tradition—not just family reunions, but the ability to get along as one harmonious family, regardless of differences of taste—whether it's taste for politics or foaming, beer or cider.

SOLONS ASK UNION AID ON LABOR LAWS

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A suggestion that union leaders themselves be given the first opportunity to propose strike-averting changes in labor laws has come from four senators.

One of them, Republican Ralph E. Flanders of Vermont, the 66-year-old industrialist embarking on his first term, said this would reverse the "New Deal technique" of the Roosevelt administration.

"When any anti-business law was planned in those days," Flanders told a reporter, "the whole act was set up and then business was invited in to say 'no' just before it was passed. "But now that congress is going to deal with labor laws, we should call upon labor for recommendations even before we start writing the law."

Club Dinner Party Set for Tonight

Kiwanis club members and guests will dine and dance at the Mansfield-Leland hotel at 6:30 p. m. today, Marion Ward, social chairman, announced. Nels Blocker's orchestra will provide music.

An audience participation program is planned for the evening's entertainment. Because of the dinner-dance the club's regular noonday meeting was cancelled for today.

Boots originated in Greece and half shoes, or oxfords, appeared in Europe during the Middle Ages.

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Their savings help out at home or go into the bank. That's what News-Journal carrier boys do with their route profits.

Featured "paper boys" this week are 12-year-olds Leland Strang, Ralph Poff and Donald Smith, Bill Kuelling, 13, and Bob Brown and James Pack, both 14.

Leland has saved $100 for college where his favorite subject, he's quite certain, will be sports. It could be that his uncle, Leo Strang, a back on the Ashland College football squad, has encouraged Leland toward "higher education."

The son cooof Mr. and Mrs. George Strang, 40666 Grace street, Leland has been ccarrying Route 112 on Ashland roaoad, Grace street, land Illinois, Indilliana and Michigan avenues for thrie past two and a half years. Besisaides his activities with Boy Scout Troop 13, Leland enjoys his mmarble collection when numbers aabout 1,000 now. Enrolled in thoue seventh grade at Lincoln Heighttts school, Leland rates math as thrie "best subject."

Another blooming mathematician of thees crowd is Ralph Poff, son of Mrs.ss. Stella Poff, 508 Ashland road.... After sixth grade classees at Lincoln Heights, Ralph begins his rounds on Route 131 which takes him to Parry and Grace streets and Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Michigan avenues.

Altogether, Ralph has peddled papers two years—one and a half years on Leland Strang's present route and six months on Route 131. From this after-school and week-end work, Ralph has put away $200. The lad's main hobbies are collecting playing cards and scenic pictures of Canada.

He can't pronounce it very well, but Donald Smith is a philatelist.

Over a year ago, Donald began collecting postage stamps. Today he has more than 100 from Germany, Japan, France, Sweden, Italy, Belgium, Australia, Spain, Austria, Greece, and Denmark, besides several domestic issues.

The seventh grader at John Simpson junior high has carried Route 8 on North Main, North Mulberry, Coul, West Sixth and Miller streets for a year and a half. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, 181½ North Mulberry street.

Bill Kuelling hasn't had much time to save for anything but Christmas gifts in his three weeks on Route 17-A. His 78 customers are located on Pearl avenue and Grace, Cherry and Spring streets.

Right now, Bill is hard at work on his C-47 model bomber which is "under construction." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kuelling, 194 Central avenue, and attends John Simpson junior high school.

Most versatile of the route carriers, according to the N-J circulation department, is James Pack, who in four years, has mastered "just about every route in town." The past year and a half have been concentrated on Routes 9 and 11, which take him on North Main street, Temple Court, Franklin avenue, and Adams, Elm and East Fifth streets.

Besides his regular route, James often works in the circulation department, where he has a good chance to memorize the routes. Enrolled in the ninth grade at Simpson, James likes math and football. A former member of the YMCA and Boy Scout Troop 9, he is the son of Mrs. Sylvia Pack, 131 Vale avenue.

Bob Brown contends he has no claim to fame as far as hobbies are concerned, but he's looking forward to his 16th birthday when he hopes to get a job in the N-J office. For the past year, Bob has carrier Route 107 on Washington and Dickson avenues. Enrolled in the eighth grade at Simpson, Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brown, 822 Springmill street.

TWO RECRUITERS ADDED TO STAFFS

Mansfield's army and navy friendly recruiting rivalry received added impetus today with the addition of Staff Sgt. Thomas H. Elder to the army recruiting staff and Chief Henry F. Warner, CSKD, to the navy staff.

Sgt. Elder, who served in Europe with the 87th division, was born and reared in Mt. Vernon. His present home is Pavonia where he married Sarah Jane Eckert, daughter of Rev. F. H. Eckert, pastor of the Methodist church.

Elder re-enlisted in April after three and a half years of service. He holds the Bronze Star.

Warner grew up in Fredericktown. He served with the navy for four years and saw service in European waters. He was discharged in April of 1946 and re-enlisted in the reserve in June.

Three Quintets Deadlocked For Lead In 'Y' Cage League

Shelby Merchants, Brodie Cigar store and Ohio Public Service are tied for first place in the YMCA Commercial B basketball league as a result of games played last night on the "Y" hardwood.

Shelby pushed Phalanx Fraternity from the unbeaten ranks, 35-24, while Brodie rolled over Dominion Electric, 30-22 and OPS rallied to edge Westinghouse, 33-27.

Only the latter contest was close as the top trio of teams moved to their second straight victories. Westinghouse led OPS at the first two intermission points, 12-4 and 15-14, but dropped out of the race in the third canto, 19-28.

In the fourth game on the card, Mansfield Plating won its first victory at the expense of Mansfield Tire, 20-16.

Bradford, Brodie center, topped the individual scorers with 17 points.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Harry Hart Claims Lightweight Title

AKRON —(AP)— Harry Hart of Columbus claimed the Ohio junior lightweight championship today after his knockout victory over Cincinnati's Sammy Birch.

The Columbus fighter was presented with a sterling silver belt by Promoter Walter Moore last night after flattening Birch at 46 seconds of the second round of their scheduled 10-round fight.

Hart weighed 132¼ to 134 for Birch.

Bill Gabor, Syracuse's ace basketball player, is regarded by many as one of the fastest collegians in the present game.

California Coach Fired By Students

BERKELEY, Cal.—(UP)—Frank Wickhorst was out of a job—at least temporarily—today, fired as football coach at the University of California by a student committee whose action was sustained by the president's office "with regrets."

Wickhorst, a former Naval academy All-American and assistant coach at Iowa from 1927 until 1931 when he became line coach at California, asked the associated students' executive committee to meet with him today, presumably to settle the financial side of his three-year contract which has two more years to run.

Dismissed with Wickhorst were his three assistants, Irv Uteritz, Vic Bottari and Larry Lutz.
